

1. Extremely low calories or carbs
2. They fail
3. They do not contain substantial amounts of anti inflammatory foods.

Most diets produce weight loss in the beginning, but not long term. To lose body fat, you have to create a calorie deficit. This will never change. The bottom line is this; you have to burn more calories than you consume every day period.